CHAS. M. MEACHAM, Editor.
FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1899.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 5,000 inhabitants, situated in a county of 40,000. The Louisville and Nashville has two lines of railroad in the county. The largest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay, coal, live stock and fruits produced for export in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $4,000,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, lime factory, tobacco manufacturer, two foundries, three brickyards, broom factory, steam laundry, ice factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid driving park and fine golf course. Five turnpikes centering in Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, a telephone exchange, numbered streets and houses and city lighted by gas. Macadamized streets and brick sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the State. Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 650, two miles east of the city. A 100,000 acre house with town clock in the dome. A fine fire department and a company of State Guards. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes. Real estate low and rents cheap. Fine opening for woolen mill, pork packing establishment, fruit cannery, tannery and many other enterprises. Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthful.

Tanner's place has not yet been filled.

Iowa Democrats have nominated Horace Boles for Governor.

New Jersey Republicans have nominated Gen. E. B. Grubb for Governor.

The country is rid of Tanner, but unfortunately Foraker and Mahone are still at large.

The Brown-Sequard elixir has dropped out of notice with a dull, sickening thud.

"Jack, the Ripper," has served written notice of his intention to commit another murder in about a week.

Col. Geo. Flournoy, a well-known lawyer of San Francisco, formerly attorney general of Texas, died Wednesday.

It is said to be practically settled that Gen. Geo. S. Merritt will succeed Tanner as Pension Commissioner.

Col. Milton H. Smith, Vice President of the L. & N. Company, has declined an offer of $35,000 salary from another railroad.

Bob Younger, the noted outlaw, died in the Minnesota penitentiary at Stillwater Tuesday. He had served 13 years of a life sentence and died of consumption. He was one of the James boys' gang.

The colored Baptists are still receding at Indianapolis and have decided to ask Congress to give them $100,000,000 to aid them in leaving the South and migrating westward. In the meantime, what is the fool-killer doing?

"Godey's Lady's Book" for October is replete with valuable matter for the ladies. This favorite Magazine contains the palm of superiority with all other fashion journals. It is full to the brim with timely, interesting reading matter for the fireside, kitchen and boudoir. Handsome and accurate fashion and work-plates are given with each issue, together with a beautiful frontispiece illustration. It is the cheapest, because it is the best fashion journal published. Price, $2.00 per year, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Peterson" for October comes to us with a handsome new cover, which the publishers announce to be the first of a number of improvements made to be made in this admirable periodical. These changes and additions cannot fail greatly to increase "Peterson's" wide circulation, which has long been far beyond that of any other lady's magazine in the country. The contents of this number are, as usual, of the first order of merit. The illustrations are excellent, the stories capital, and the fashion and household department are models in their completeness. The list of premiums for 1899 presents a tempting array of attractions to getters-up of clubs. It will soon be time to decide on a magazine for next year. Our advice to families not familiar with "Peterson" is to send for a sample-copy. They will certainly be induced to try it for a year, and thereafter "Peterson" will always be a necessity in the household. Address Peterson's Magazine, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

This is a splendid opportunity for our people to see and hear these world-renowned actors. This will be the last joint appearance of these two actors.

The repertoire for the week will be as follows:

LOSS $1,500,000.

Great Fire in Louisville, Sunday Night.

Fire broke out at 11 o'clock Sunday night in the immense wholesale dry goods house of Bamberger, Bloom & Co., Louisville, and totally destroyed it, together with the entire stock of goods contained in it. The building was the largest and finest in the city devoted to mercantile purposes and the stock destroyed was the largest in the South. Several firms adjoining were also burned out. Five firemen were killed by a falling wall. They were Capt. E. Farly, John Monahan, Pat Foley, Lawrence Steigler and Tom Whalen. Dennis McGrath and John Bess were also caught under the debris and badly hurt but will recover.

The latest estimate of losses is as follows:

Bamberger, Bloom & Co., $1,000,000; insurance $789,750, Building $80,000; insurance $75,000. They also carried $22,000 on their fixtures.

Stone For Governor

(Cincinnati Democrat.)

The political slate makers have been busy for some time arranging a Democratic slate for State officers in 1891. Such slates are just a little previous and it is quite likely that they will be broken into so many pieces that their creator will not recognize the fragments. We offer no slate, but for the information of those engaged in such business we will simply mention Hon. W. J. Stone, the able Congressman from the old Gibraltar district will, if he lives, succeed Governor Buckner. The times are ripe for a farmer Governor, and Capt. Stone is not only an actual farmer, but is also a Statesman of acknowledged ability. He is well equipped by his attainments and experience in public affairs, to make a fit Governor for the proudest and grandest old Commonwealth in this Union; and the fingers on the political sign boards all point to Hon. W. J. Stone as the next Governor of Kentucky. We make no charge for this information and only state it so that future slate makers can govern themselves accordingly. And by way of conclusion we would further remark that the Eastern and Western Kentucky will be heard from in our next convention for the nomination of State officers.

THE CRAFT.

Mr. C. M. Phillips, surviving partner of Graves & Phillips, offers the Lebanon Standard and Times for sale.

Yasco D. Brown, late of the Russellville Ledger, has assumed the business management of the Mayfield Democrat.

The Russellville Ledger thinks the Legislature would make a big mistake to take to continue the Superior Court, which was established four years only, to enable the Court of Appeals to catch up with its docket.

The Madisonville Item, heretofore published by a stock company, has been leased to Messrs. Miller & Barrett, of Hartford, Ky. The publication day has been changed from Saturday to Wednesday by the new management.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for dark tobacco:

Dark lugs extra quality $3.00 to 4.50.
Common leaf $4.00 to 5.00.
Medium to good leaf $5.00 to 6.00.

SOUTH CHRISTIAN.

PEE DEE, Sept. 16.—We have had a nice rain and the air is considerably cooler.

Mrs. D. C. Wooten has returned home from Louisville, where she has been for some weeks under medical treatment. She is much improved in health.

Born, to the wife of G. W. Jones, on Sept. 11th, an eleven pound girl.

Mrs. Geo. Bush has been very sick for two weeks past.

Messrs. James Redd and Flavius Northington started their new saw-mill last week on the farm of C. N. Edwards.

Messrs. Nance & Binns are adding some new machinery to their mill.

Two colored men living on the farm of Mr. R. C. Crenshaw, named Al. Rascoe and Silas Lindsay, had a falling out on Sunday last, and cut each other very badly. Silas Lindsay is thought to be seriously hurt.

The picnic given by the Alliance at Pee Dee last Saturday was a decided success. In the morning Prof. Rascoe made quite an interesting talk, which was much enjoyed by all who heard him. At the close of his remarks dinner was announced and the crowd betook themselves to the shady grove, where a bountiful repast was in waiting for them. The eagerness with which the crowd took food was conclusive evidence that they enjoyed that dinner; and let me say right here that the good ladies in and around Pee Dee know exactly how to prepare dinners that will make a hungry man's mouth water.

After dinner the crowd re-assembled at the stand, where they were again addressed by that noted old wheel horse, S. B. Erwin, of Fulton, Ky., who explained in detail the aims and objects of the Alliance and Wheel, also the beauties of co-operation and what would be gained by it. At the close of Mr. Erwin's speech Dr. Clardy was introduced and talked at some length. Mr. Ward, of Clarksville, answered Dr. Clardy in a short speech.

Mr. Metcalf, of Hopkinsville, also gave a talk on agriculture, fertilizers, etc. The day was a very enjoyable one, the best of order prevailing throughout the entire day.

JULIAN JOTTINGS.

JULIAN, Sept. 18.—Miss Sammie White has returned from a visit to friends at Lafayette.

Mrs. E. E. Ham has recovered from a slight attack of bilious fever. Mrs. Ben F. Briggs, who visited relatives here, returned to her home at Mayfield last week.

Mrs. McCain is teaching the district school at Grayce.

Mr. W. H. Smith's new residence, which has been in course of construction for some months, is nearing completion. Mr. Smith is now an old bachelor.

Mr. W. H. Bally is confined to his room. He has the chills.

Mr. Howard Stowe's new school house does credit to this community.

Miss Nettie Edwards has started a subscription school at the new house and has so far met with a great deal of success in the way of patronage.

Miss Edwards is highly capable of conducting a first class school successfully, and we bespeak for her a most complete and gratifying success in her undertaking.

Mr. B. H. Hyde, of the firm of Hallums, Hyde & Co., Clarksville, finished pricing his purchase of tobacco and returned home last week.

Mr. Hyde paid out $30,000 for tobacco at this point this season, and will return again next season and try to make a larger purchase. He contemplates building a factory this fall.

Dr. Pete Burgess, of New Providence, Tenn., who has been temporarily located here, will leave in a few days for Central City and South Carrollton to look for a permanent location. During his stay here, Dr. Burgess has proven himself to be a gentleman of rare attainments in his (dental) profession, and we take pleasure in recommending him wherever he may hang out his shingle.

One day last week at a cabin on the farm of Howard Stowe a quiet little altercation took place between Jack Mason and Wm. Russell, of color. Mason is now limping around with about an ounce of lead in his back, while Russell quietly pursues his daily vocation as a laborer on the farm where the shooting occurred.

"Mum" is the word among the darkies until the grand jury is excused.

WEST CHRISTIAN.

GRACEY, Ky., Sept. 16.—Mr. R. C. Roach left this morning for Louisville and Cincinnati to buy his fall and winter stock of dry goods and notions.

Geo. A. Steele passed through town to-day en route for Cadiz.

Mr. J. R. Peace left for home yesterday. Luck to you Dick.

MATTING VS. CARPETS.

The Most Economical and Healthful of All Floor Coverings.

One of the prettiest and most economical of floor coverings is straw matting, and that this is surely recognized by the majority of women is shown by the place for coons and cleanliness is nothing that will take during the warm weather, and it is much to be preferred, if only on the score of health, to any other floor covering for sleeping-rooms. For the living-rooms, more especially the dining-room, it is the most serviceable as well as a room for summer or winter use.

With pretty rugs scattered over it, the room has a pleasant, home-like appearance that is very attractive. It is cheap, and if care is taken when putting it down, that little clevers made especially for the purpose are used instead of the ordinary carpet tacks, it can be taken up at any time when cleaning house, cleaned and put down again, in less time and with less labor than a woolen carpet, as it does not require to be beaten, but washed while on the floor the same as usual.

In sweeping straw matting never use a broom, for it will tear the strands in a short while. A long-handled bristle brush, such as is used for oil cloth, is the nicest and will remove the dust best, for the soft bristles can go into crevices that a broom would miss. Always, when possible, brush the matting lengthwise way of the grain, and the strands of straw will not be torn and broken as quickly as though brushed across.

To wash matting, take some warm water and soften it with ammonia, then with some good soap make a suds. Have two soft white tannet cloths, one for washing and the other for drying. Put one cloth into the suds, wring it out, and rub the water well not dry and rub the matting briskly, a small place at a time, rinse the cloth, wring as dry as you can and wipe the carpet as dry as possible. Now with the dry tannet, rub the spot well, taking up as much moisture as possible. Do not wet the matting much, for the dust is only on the surface, and the rubbing with a damp cloth will ruin it. Wipe the carpet well through it will dry color and it will never look as well as before.

Some clean matting by sprinkling brae or coarse Indian meal over it, then with a long handled mop, with cloth wrung out of clean, warm water, rubbing the grain well all over the carpet, then leaving it well alone, when the grain is brushed out. This is claimed to be a thorough way of cleaning matting, but we prefer the damp cloth method minus the grain.

When white matting becomes yellow it may be brought back to its original color, first by washing off all dust, then going over the whole with a cloth wrung out of salt and water.

Cracks in the carpet are often enough to wash matting ordinarily used, and once in three months is frequently enough.

Foot Gear of Many Nations.

In the ninth and tenth centuries the common form of shoe in Europe was the wooden shoe.

The Egyptians had shoes or sandals made ordinarily of leather, but sometimes of palm leaves or papyrus.

Chinese persons of rank wore boots with thick soles and legs of fine cloth or silk that reach half-way up to the knee.

The Japanese in their houses wear light shoes or slippers, with woven soles without heels, or else go in their stocking feet.

Wooden shoes, or sabots, are worn now among the peasants in many countries in Europe. Their advantage is in their cheapness and durability.

Among the southern Indians, where no protection is needed from the cold, a shoe is made consisting simply of a sole of thick hide bound on the feet by thongs.

There are a variety of boots and shoes used in China. The common shoe is made of thick heavy felt, with a still thicker sole made of woven straw or layers of felt.

In the sixteenth century boots were generally worn in England and France, and the boots of the cavaliers were made with enormously wide tops that were rolled or folded over.—Chicago Mail.

White and Black Dresses.

The white and black dresses always liked by women of refined taste was made this season of India silk with white ground strewn with black outline designs of flower and leaf, trimmed with cream bands of black lace insertions, either of Chantilly or of the heavier ribbon. Four bands of Chantilly, each four inches wide, cross the side and back breadth, which are pressed in large side pleats; the front breadth is plain and slightly draped, and there is a similar breadth each side of the back. The waist has a jacket front opening over a full gathered vest, striped across with lace insertions, and the full sleeves have lengthwise rows of the black lace. A black lace round and full lace parasol complete this toilette. An evening dress suitable for very light mourning is of white mousseline de sole wrought all over with small black dots, and bordered at the foot and up the back with black embroidery in vine pattern edged with white watered ribbon. This is made up with low Empire corsage and wide wash of black armure silk deeply fringed.—Harper's Bazar.

It is a queer fact that deaf persons who can not hear ordinary conversation anywhere else can hear the most casual and low-toned remarks when they are riding a railroad car.

It would be ludicrous, were it not so painful, to see how old are the children of 1899. While waiting the other day I was dumb-struck in this wise. Two little boys in round jackets approached a daintily-dressed little girl of seven. One, touching his cap to her with Chesterfieldian grace, drew forward the blushing owner of the other round jacket, saying: "Allow me, Miss Almira, to present to you my friend, Mr. Smith." The little lady recognized Mr. Smith after the most approved adult fashion, and I went on to say "a sadder but a wiser" woman.

Before I had time to recover from this, I heard a boy of six ask a little girl of ten: "Mary, what do you think of the men?" Mary, bridling with edifying indignation, answered: "Haven't I told you repeatedly, sir, never to ask me that question?" Judging from present symptoms, kites, hoops, dolls and balls will be in small request in a few years. Male babies in the cradle will then smoke cigars, and female babies will cry for a little hush, instead of a lump of sugar.—N. Y. Ledger.

An Ancient Church Organ.

The oldest organ in the United States is said to be in St. John's Church, Portsmouth, N. H. It is imported by Thomas Brattle in 1713 and presented to the society worshipping at King's Chapel by him. There was such a prejudice existing against setting it up that the cases containing its parts remained unopened for seven months, after which time the organ was in use until 1766, when it was sold to St. Paul's Church, Newburyport.

In 1866 St. John's Church, Portsmouth, N. H., became the owner, paying $450 for the instrument. A new case was provided, the old pipes and the wind-chest being found in perfect order. There the organ is to-day, doing service in the vestry, where the veteran is regarded with the tenderest solicitude.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

CREAM OF NEWS.

Robbed of Jewelry.

About 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, while the family of Mr. J. P. Glass was absent, some expert robber entered his dwelling through a rear window and prizing open trunks, bureau drawers, upsetting beds, etc., securing a gold watch, set of elegant ear-rings, five plain gold rings, one emerald ring and an elegant breast pin, all the property of his daughter, Miss Jennie. Mr. Glass estimates the value of the collection at $150. The work was evidently done by a professional burglar as it showed a tem and was done in a very short while. There is no clue whatever as to who is the guilty party or parties.

Brame Still not Captured.

W. T. Brame is still at large. The search for him still continues in the southern part of the county. One of the latest rumors was that he was seen at Beverly Sunday night, but that was contradicted yesterday. The detectives with five bloodhounds were last heard from in the extreme southern part of the county. Brame has relatives all through that country and the prospects for his capture are not very encouraging. The reward for him is $700, $500 by the railroad and $200 by the State of Tennessee.

A Wheel of Bad Fortune.

Ada Sinclair, a beautiful red-headed woman, was arrested in the side show of Sells' circus, charged with setting up and running a wheel of fortune, a machine by which money is lost or won. She was arraigned before Judge Tinsley and held over in a bond of $600 to answer any indictment the grand jury might find against her. This amount was promptly deposited and she left the city with the other show people. The money was turned into the hands of the trustees for the jury fund to await the action of the grand jury.

A Bold Theft.

About 11 o'clock Wednesday night a colored boy called at Gus Young's establishment on 6th street and asked of Mr. Young to show him a good revolver. Gus was shown him which did not fill the bill, he was then shown a Smith & Wesson, double action. The latter one seemed to be "just the thing," as he darted out of the house with it in his hand without taking time to pay for same, and made good his escape. Mr. Young would probably be unable to identify him should he be caught.

The Duncan Case.

The trial of Walter Duncan for the murder of Chas. Fleming at Herndon, Aug. 12, 1888, has been in progress all this week. The testimony has been voluminous and often conflicting. Fleming and his wife had been divorced, but Fleming continued to operate her farm while she kept a boarding house near by at Herndon. Fleming was frequently at Mrs. Fleming's house and on the day of the killing met Duncan there. Mrs. Fleming was arranging with Duncan to run her farm the next year and on this account the men got into a quarrel. Fleming was 42 years old, of large physique and quarrelsome when drinking. Duncan was 25 and a young man of slight build and quiet habits. While they were quarreling, Duncan drew a knife as he said to defend himself. Fleming took off his coat and invited him out into the yard to fight and finally told Duncan to pull him out when Duncan stabbed him five times, killing him.

Fleming's divorced wife is a witness for the defense. Wm. T. Brame, the murderer of Conductor Lemon, was also a material witness, but did not appear to testify. A good many "character witnesses" were introduced by the prosecution to impeach the virtue of some of the female witnesses for the defense. A good deal of time was consumed in this way, but the evidence was finally closed yesterday morning and the arguments began.

There will be six speeches in the case. On the defense side Judge J. W. McPherson, Hon. Jas. Brechtel and Mr. C. H. Bush. For the prosecution, County Attorney John W. Payne, Col. A. H. Clark and Commonwealth's Attorney Jas. B. Garrett. These will speak alternately in the order named and the arguments will probably be closed today.

MATRIMONIAL.

Yesterday afternoon, the 19th inst., at Olivet Baptist church, near Howell, Mr. Walter E. Leigh, of Elktion, and Miss Anna King were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. John O. Rust, of this city, in a peculiarly pleasing and graceful manner, and in the presence of a large assemblage of the friends and well-wishers of the contracting parties. The bride is the lovely and winsome daughter of Mr. Martha King, of Howell, and is one of the most charming young ladies in south Christian. Mr. Leigh is a young lawyer of Elktion and his natural ability and well-grounded knowledge of the law will surely enable him to attain prominence at the bar. He recently went to Spokane Falls, Washington Territory, on a prospecting tour and it is not unlikely that he will soon remove with his fair bride to the far west and locate for the practice of his profession.

Mr. Larkin T. Lindsay, formerly of this city, but now of Memphis, eloped with and was married to Miss Willie Gunn, of that city, on the 7th inst. The young lady is the niece of Mrs. Wilson, with whom Mr. Lindsay boarded, and is spoken of by the papers as a pretty and very youthful little brunette.

Mr. S. Walton Forgy, of this city, and Miss Sallie Petree, of Elktion, will be married on Oct. 15th and on the same date a similar contract will be entered into by Mr. Jno. A. Steele of Bellevue, and Miss Bobbie Watson, of Cadiz.

The KENTUCKIAN knows of a wedding for the first week in October, but it is sworn to secrecy.

Sells' Bros. Circus.

The circus drew a tremendous crowd Wednesday. The country poured into the city a constant stream of humanity from daylight till noon and the crowd was the largest seen here for many a day. The colored population was out in force. They came in by wagon loads and continued to come, in spite of the muddy roads, until it seemed all of the darkies in the county were here. The circus had a good attendance at each performance, but the seating capacity of the tent was so great that any estimate of the number would be but idle guess work.

Col. Chas. Seelye, press representative, placed the KENTUCKIAN staff under obligations for special courtesies and attentions.

The program lasted for more than two hours and most of the time three distinct performances were going on. There was in fact two much of the circus to see it all to advantage, but there were no new or striking features.

Unlike at least one of the other big shows, the Sells Brothers have not suppressed the vendors of peanuts, lemonade, etc. These nuisances swarmed everywhere, straddling and climbing over ladies on the reserved seats noisily clamoring to sell peanuts, lemonade, fans, cigars, song-books and other articles too numerous to mention. There are always a certain proportion of men ill-bred enough to smoke in the presence of ladies and many ladies whose escorts had paid for reserved seats and special privileges were annoyed by the fumes of cheap cigars retailed by the agents of the management. This is the one bad feature about an otherwise praiseworthy show.

The side-show was an unusually good one and did a big business.

The merchants of the city, especially those who advertise their goods, did a business that surpassed their expectations. Everybody seemed to have money and every line of trade got a share of it.

There were no fights or disturbances of consequence, but the police made numerous arrests in the afternoon for drunkenness. The best of order was maintained throughout the day.

The show people "set up" tickets to all of the civil officers, county and municipal, and most of them took it in. Judge Grace kindly consented to adjourn court and give the lawyers and court officials a chance to follow the crowd and see the sights. At night the jury in the Duncan case, in charge of two officers, attended in a body, having been supplied with complimentary tickets.

If you have sick and nervous headache, take Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They cleanse the stomach, restore healthy action to the digestive organs, remove effete matter (the presence of which depresses the nerves and brain) and thus gives speedy relief.
